

ABSTRACT

A machine cycle unwrapper for use with a glass forming machine which is controlled by a programmable sequencer which defines a 360° machine cycle having a set cycle time. The cycle unwrapper converts the "on" and "off" angles around the wrapped 360° programmable sequencer to "on" and "off" times along an unwrapped bottle forming process which takes more then two machine cycles to complete.